Today, the Vesterålen archipelago is a popular destination for tourists looking to experience the area's unique history and natural wonders.

Vesterålen, located in northern Norway, is a hiker's paradise, offering a unique and breathtaking hiking experience. The region boasts over 200 easily accessible mountain hikes, providing panoramic views of fjords and mountains. Among these hikes are the Green Alps of Vesterålen, a mountain range that offers both easy and demanding tours. These tours provide hikers with stunning views of the surrounding landscape, making it an unforgettable experience.

One of the highlights of Vesterålen Rorbuer is its authentic Rorbu accommodations, which date back to the 18th and 19th centuries. Rorbus, or fisherman's cabins, were traditionally used by fishermen during the cod fishing season. These cabins were built on stilts over the water, allowing fishermen to easily access their boats and the ocean. Today, many of these historic cabins have been renovated and converted into comfortable accommodations for travelers. Staying in a Rorbu is a unique experience that allows visitors to connect with the area's rich fishing heritage and enjoy stunning views of the ocean and surrounding landscape.

Only during July or upon request: During their stay at Vesterålen Rorbuer, guests can enjoy delicious meals at the resort's restaurant, Damperiet. The restaurant is located in a former cod steam factory and offers a cozy and welcoming atmosphere. In addition to dining, visitors can also take advantage of a range of activities and experiences at Vesterålen Rorbuer, including hiking, fishing, kayaking, and wildlife watching. The resort offers guided tours and excursions, allowing visitors to explore the area's stunning natural beauty and learn more about its history and culture.
